

JUNIOR ROOSEVELT IS WEDDED TODAY

Most Brilliant Social Gathering of Season when Miss Alexander Becomes His Bride

CHURCH BOWER OF BEAUTY

Will Kneel Under Greatest Floral Arch Ever Seen in City of New York at 4 O'Clock

NEW YORK, June 20.—For once Col. Roosevelt is to figure in an important function without playing one of the leading roles. These will fall to Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander, who, at 4 o'clock this afternoon will be married in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church before probably the greatest social gathering of the season.

Invitations were sent to about 1,500 persons and the church will be crowded. For the reception at the home of Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, an aunt of the bride, at No. 4 West Fifty-eighth street, between 800 and 900 invitations were issued.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, a great uncle of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Gordon Russell of Cranford, N. J. Miss Alexander will be attended by Mrs. Snowden Andrews Fahnestock, as matron of honor, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, Miss Harriet Alexander and Miss Janet Alexander. Miss Jean Delano and Miss Jessie Millington-Drake of Paris. Kermit Roosevelt will act as best man, owing to the death of the father of Evelyn Irving, the first choice. The ushers will be Hamilton Fish, Jr., an old Harvard friend of the bridegroom, Francis Roche, Fulton Cutting, George Roosevelt, Monroe Robinson, Grafton Chapman, E. Morgan Gilbert, Elliott Cutler and John W. Cutler.

The bridal party will walk through a lane of lilies of the valley from the church door to the chancel. Lilies of the valley and bride's roses will carpet the steps of the altar and the chancel rail will be hung with garlands of white roses. The bride and bridegroom will kneel upon a prie-dieu of white satin cushions while over them will tower the largest floral arch ever seen in New York, made of pink ranunculus, gladioli and roses. The decorations of the church last night and their work will not be completed until a short time before the guests begin arriving. Nathan Franco's famous orchestra will play during the assembling of the guests and the ceremony.

Miss Alexander's bridal gown is of white satin with point lace and orange blossoms. It is an empire gown with high neck and three quarter length sleeves. The collar and yoke are of rare valenciennes lace collected by Mrs. Alexander while abroad. The prevailing colors of the costumes of the bride's attendants are dull pink and pale blue of pastel shades. The young women will carry pink roses and forget-me-nots.

Where young Roosevelt and his bride intend going on their honeymoon has been kept secret. He is due in San Francisco on July 1, where he will be employed by the Pacific branch of the carpet manufacturing of Thompsonville, Conn.

THIS "JOHN" SEES A JAP-U. S. WAR

LONDON, June 20.—Gerard Fienness, the English naval expert, is trying his best to make Americans understand that it will probably not be long before they will have to fight Japan.

"There are a hundred indications," he says in an article just published in the London Graphic, "which show that a collision between Japan and the United States is approaching. The Americans live in a fool's paradise in this matter."

"Europe is not going to lift a finger, I imagine, when war breaks out between Japan and the United States to save the latter the islands of which they deprived Spain. Europe has a 'Monroe doctrine' of its own and it includes the determination to let the United States stew in her own juice."

STORM VICTIMS MAY BE MORE

NEW YORK, June 20.—It is feared by the police today that the seventeen deaths thus far recorded as a result of Saturday's storm which swept upon the city following the Roosevelt reception, will be added to when the harbor squad has had an opportunity to search Jamaica Bay and adjacent waters. The fact that thousands watched the Roosevelt parade instead of taking a holiday on the water, saved many lives, according to the police.

PIONEER FARMER DIES ON SUNDAY

Fred Lenser, one of the old residents of Chipmunk Ridge, died Sunday afternoon at his home of old age, after a lingering illness. Decedent was 85 years of age and leaves two sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock from the house.

FIGHT NEWS IN THIRTY SECONDS

Tribune, with United Press Leased Wire Service, to Offer Lightning Returns

2 TRANSCONTINENTAL LINES

Half a Minute After Blow Lands it will Be Type-written in Tribune Office Here

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—As a result of arrangements completed today for the covering of the Jeffries-Johnson fight by the United Press the five hundred afternoon newspapers served by this organization will receive the most nearly instantaneous action ever attempted in connection with a big news event.

It is planned to deliver into the offices of United Press papers throughout the entire country detailed descriptions of each blow struck within fifteen seconds of the time the blow actually lands. In order to do this two United Press transcontinental leased wires will be run to the press table at the ringside—whether the battle is held at Reno or Goldfield, and these wires will be manned by two of the fastest sending operators in the country, to whom the story will be dictated. Owing to the limitations of the carrying capacity of the telegraph wires three relays or resendings will be necessary to reach all points. One of these relays will be made at San Francisco, where the stuff will be resent to the coast papers, another at Denver from where all central and southern points will be served, and a third at New York from which eastern points will be taken care of. At each of these points the receiving operator will use a visible typewriter and the sending operator seated beside him will relay the incoming matter, word for word as it is received. The task of giving to the country this description of the fight—a story which promises to be one of the most widely read of the decade—has been assigned to Max Balthaser, best known in the sporting world as "The Ringsider," one of the foremost boxing authorities in the country, and a man whose opinions have for many years been the last word in sporting authority on the Pacific coast, the home of the fighting game.

Balthaser has been at the ringside during practically every important bout participated in by either Jeffries or Johnson and has a personal and expert knowledge of the style and science of each man. For several weeks past he has been in personal touch with both fighters, has studied them at their work and during their relaxation and the full value of the men and their work will be brought out in his analysis of their battle.

Balthaser will be assisted in his work by Tip Wright, also a well known boxing authority who will divide with Balthaser the work of giving to the United Press the news of the training camps up to the day of the battle.

"JEFF" READY TO JUMP TO RENO

(By Max Balthaser.)
JEFFRIES' TRAINING CAMP, Rowardennan, Cal., June 20.—Jim Jeffries and his entourage will leave this little mountain town some time today—probably late this afternoon—on a special car for Nevada. The big fellow is simply awaiting word from Rickard as to what town gets the fight. He will leave there the moment he knows whether it is to be Reno, Ely or Goldfield.

If Jeff is worried at the change at this late day, he does not show it. Moana Springs, three miles from Reno, has been selected as Jeffries' training quarters if the little mining town is chosen for the scrap.

LANGFORD WILL MEET KETCHEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 20.—The Sam Langford-Al Kaufman fight has been called off and instead of meeting Kaufman, the "tar baby" will clash with Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion, on the morning of July 4 in the same arena in which Jeffries and Johnson are expected to battle.

LANGFORD-KAUFMAN FIGHT AT RENO, NEV.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Sam Langford and Al Kaufman will not fight in San Francisco at all. Instead they will clash at Reno on the morning of July 4 in the same ring in which Jeff and Johnson are expected to battle.

THOMAS CONLEY IS UNDER ARREST

Thomas Conley was arrested by the police on complaint of Walter Humphrey, charged with robbery. It is charged that Conley robbed Humphrey of a sum of money while the two men were at the Milwaukee house.

THE AMERICAN FLAG NOW HAS 48 STARS

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—By unanimous vote the house on Saturday adopted the senate statehood bill which means that New Mexico and Arizona will be admitted as separate states. The measure now goes to the president for his signature. It provides that congress and the president must approve the constitutions of the new states. One million acres of public domain in each of the new states is to be set aside to pay outstanding county bonds. The house educational limit on franchise was not in the senate bill as passed.

FETE DAY HELD AT MYRICK PARK

First of Normal School Commencement Exercises Proves to Be a Great Success

Saturday afternoon Myrick park was the scene of a unique form of entertainment, fete day, given by the students of the La Crosse state normal school. All present enjoyed it to the greatest extent, having nothing but praise for the manner in which the participants acted. Many took lunch and made an all day outing of it, and the foreigners present took a great deal of interest, saying that it was almost identical to the celebrations held in their countries. Although these festivals have been held in the larger schools and cities, it is something entirely new for La Crosse, and the way in which it was received demonstrates that their efforts were appreciated. Dances of this kind are a regular part of the gymnastic work at the normal, it being considered more helpful and more pleasant than the old method.

A large circle was formed and in it were placed four May poles around which all the children were placed. They then executed their dances to the accompaniment of an orchestra. Although the model school had had but one rehearsal with the orchestra, they performed in such a manner as would have done credit to much more experienced people. Their rendition of the rose race and the rose march was excellent, and they were highly complimented for their work. "Bean Porridge," and "Ace of Diamonds," two other dances, were also done well, the pupils showing that they had been well trained.

The German hopping dance and the grace hoop march, were also features, they being executed with apparatus which weighed about a pound each. Another good number was the "medicine ball," which was done by the boys and which called forth much praise.

Miss Ruth Wallace was selected the May queen. Misses Jessie Trane and Ruth Hillard were leaders, having been chosen on account of their academic fitness. The performance was all the more remarkable, as the model school had but one rehearsal with the orchestra, while the older girls had no drill with the orchestra whatever, depending entirely upon their leaders.

To Miss Thayer much of the credit is due of the very beautiful fete. The knowledge and experience that were brought to bear, and her ability to execute the idea combined to produce the most artistic and finest spectacle that La Crosse has ever had. All the training for the physical exhibition showed her skill in her department.

TRAMP FREIGHTER SINKS IN COLLISION

LIVERPOOL, June 20.—Ten members of the crew of the steamer La Rochelle from Bayonne, N. J., were drowned in the Irish Sea today when their steamer was sent to the bottom in a collision with the steamer Yews from Harrington to Port Talbot. La Rochelle is a big iron tramp freighter and was cut almost in two when the vessels came together, sinking so rapidly that her engine room forces had no chance to escape. The others jumped into the sea and were picked up by the Yews and are being brought here.

TEDDY BACK, STORK LEAVES 4 BABIES

BOSTON, Mass., June 20.—Possibly to further mark the return of Col. Roosevelt, his friend, the stork, made a flying visit to Boston and left four infants in the home of Captain Anderson, a ship fitter at the Charlestown navy yard. All the children, three boys and a girl, are expected to live. The mother of the children is 34 years old. The couple have had eight other children, four of whom are living.

ROOSEVELT CAN'T ANSWER HIS MAIL

Calls Upon His Friends Not to Expect Replies; May Not Even See Thousands of Them

NEW YORK, June 20.—Col. Roosevelt has been overwhelmed by the deluge of letters and telegrams awaiting him at Oyster Bay and at his office with the Outlook. Thousands of letters have accumulated and more are arriving hourly. Many of them are friendly greetings, more contain political advice and not a few are from old friends with whom the colonel has been corresponding.

It may interest the writers to know that the great mass of this correspondence will never reach Col. Roosevelt's eyes. Some of it may be seen by persons employed to look it over but it is not certain that all letters will even be read.

"While appreciating the kindly thought and the good intentions of the people writing these letters," said Col. Roosevelt today, "I would be glad if you would make it known through the United Press that the volume of my correspondence renders it impossible for me to give it my personal attention. I regret this very much as I am sure there are many letters which I should like to read. I am sure also that there are many from old friends who are entitled to individual replies. They will understand, I think, how impossible it is in the rush of things, for me to read over the many thousands of letters that have accumulated and the hundreds which are now arriving. It will be a kindness for well disposed strangers to refrain from writing me or sending telegrams."

"An ex-president has no secretary or no appropriation provided for having a staff of stenographers and typewriters such as may be required to deal with this great volume of mail. These outside letters simply swamp important matter which should receive my personal attention. I am sure that many friends who have received no replies or disappointing replies to their letters will understand that it is because they have never come to my attention."

During the twenty-five days of Col. Roosevelt's stay in London, he received more than three thousand letters. During the 17 days between March 4, 1909 and date of his sailing for Africa, he received more than 7,000 letters.

Mr. Roosevelt and members of his family helped him open and sort this mail but the absence of an office staff made it impossible to deal with the letters separately. In London two stenographers were hired to help and Lawrence Abbott contributed his services. It should be understood, however, that Abbott is not a paid secretary and that Roosevelt has employed no secretary here.

WHITE CALLED LABOR "TIGHT"

CHICAGO, June 20.—In opening the defense of Lee O'Neil Browne on the Lorimer bribery charges today Attorney W. S. Forrest for the defense moved that the court instruct the jury to render a verdict of acquittal on the ground that the state had failed to make a case. Judge McCurey promptly overruled this motion and ordered the defense to proceed.

WON'T CALL SESSION

LINCOLN, Neb., June 20.—Gov. Shallenberger has turned down the request of W. J. Bryan for a special session of the Nebraska legislature intended to settle the question of local option.

REV. LOWE GIVES BACCALAUREATE

Universalist Pastor Complements the High School Graduates and Pleases Big Audience

MONEY IS NOT EVERYTHING

Young People Are Told that Character and Integrity Cannot Be Bought with Gold

Rev. J. S. Lowe last night delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the high school, in the presence of a crowd which filled every seat in the church. It was one of the best addresses heard in this city for a long time and was greatly appreciated.

Mr. Lowe has now delivered two baccalaureate addresses, one in 1904, after his first year's work in this city and now the 1910 address marks the close of his last year in La Crosse. He congratulated the class upon having the largest number of any graduating class in the history of the school, and said that all would soon be scattered, some going to college to continue their education, while others would enter business of some sort. Whatever they did, he said they would have to work, taking as an example a bird, who, although provided for in regard to food, etc., nevertheless has to hunt for eatables and for material with which to build their homes. In the same way, although opportunities present themselves, one must be able to take advantage of them. Some of the best assets, said Rev. Lowe, are honesty and integrity, which if they are possessed by one, may help riches, but riches can never gain honesty and integrity.

The text was taken from Matt. 6:33, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."

Mr. Lowe said in part: "Christ is not raising the question as to how many things we are to seek after; the fact that he so explicitly says we are to seek God and righteousness first, clearly implies that he assumed we are to seek many other things secondarily. He is stating, in most unequivocal terms the thing that we are to seek first, namely righteousness."

"The speaker pointed out that great responsibilities rest upon the graduates of our high schools and colleges as they go out into the world to take places of trust. He then closed with the following words of admonition: "As we enter the early years of this twentieth century, we are brought face to face, with what is likely to be the greatest crisis through which our nation has ever passed. Our wealth is unprecedented, our natural resources are almost unlimited. But it is at this very point that the master is flying the danger signal. The corrupting influence of this unparalleled prosperity is already demoralizing our citizenship. Men buy and sell each other in our legislative assemblies as they would so much merchandise. Sooner or later this nation must choose between God and Mammon, it must decide whether it will put prosperity first and righteousness second, or righteousness first and prosperity second, and the success or failure of this republic, that our forefathers purchased with the precious blood they spilled, hinges upon the choice that is made. It rests with you young men and young women, to make that choice. As you deliberate, as you love Old Glory, the flag of law and liberty, listen to the voice of the master, saying: 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness,' and then you may seek these other things secondarily, and they will be added unto you in such a manner that they will not crumble to ashes in your hands. For your own sake, for the sake of those you love, for the sake of those who died to vindicate our cause, I can only say, God help you to choose aright."

TAFT SIGNS THE STATEHOOD BILL

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—The statehood bill was signed by President Taft at 1:42 this afternoon in the executive offices in the presence of a number of statehood advocates.

The bill, which creates two new states, Arizona and New Mexico, was signed with two pens. The president wrote "approved, Wm. H." with a gold pen which he gave to Postmaster General Hitchcock in accordance with a promise made a year ago and wrote the "Taft" with an eagle feather quill pen which Delegates Andrews of New Mexico claimed.

LORIMER PROBE DURING RECESS

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—The resolution providing for an investigation of the charges of bribery and corruption in connection with the election of Wm. Lorimer as senator from Illinois was adopted by the senate today. The committee will set during the recess of congress and probably will hold its sessions in Illinois.

PENROSE SLATE TO GO THROUGH

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 20.—With everybody somewhat "up in the air" as a result of the withdrawal of Secretary of State Knox as a gubernatorial possibility, the advance guard of the delegates to the republican state convention are aimlessly discussing possible candidates today and are about to accept the Penrose organization slate.

GOLDFIELD TO OFFER $200,000

RENO, Nev., June 20.—Reno is fight crazy and is anxious to have Jack Johnson and James J. Jeffries fight their Independence day battle in Reno, but it is not sufficiently enthusiastic to refrain from drawing the color line on Johnson. Johnson had announced in San Francisco that he would train at Laughton's Hot Springs, five miles west of Reno. C. E. Laughton, today notified W. O. Thomas, who engineered Reno's fight bid, that neither Johnson or any other negro could stop as a guest at his resort.

Tex Rickard is in Reno. Goldfield began to loom up larger as a possibility for the scene of the battle when it was reported that a committee of Goldfield business men would meet Rickard at Reno prepared to make a brand new offer for the fight. It is said they will guarantee $200,000 if Rickard will transfer the battle to their city.

TAFT IS PLEASED WITH LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—President Taft was emphatic today in expressing his satisfaction with the work that has been accomplished and that which is to be put through during the closing days of the session of congress.

The administrations present plan is to have the bill for the publicity of campaign expenses passed immediately after the postal savings bank measure is agreed to by the senate, and then to take up the Appalachian forest reserve bill in the senate.

WON'T CALL SESSION

LINCOLN, Neb., June 20.—Gov. Shallenberger has turned down the request of W. J. Bryan for a special session of the Nebraska legislature intended to settle the question of local option.

MISSOURI TO OUST THE "BEEF TRUST"

Quo Warranto Proceedings Are Started at Jefferson City Today by Attorney General

NO COMPETITION SINCE 1902

Prosecution Charges Meat Business Is Handled by National Packing Co. of New Jersey

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 20.—Quo warranto proceedings, seeking to oust the "beef trust" from the state of Missouri, were filed with the state supreme court today by Attorney General Major.

Two separate suits were filed, one directly against the Swift, Morris and Armour companies, the other against the Hammond Packing company and the St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provision company.

The petitions filed by Attorney General Major allege that the Hammond Packing company, the Morris, Swift and Armour companies and the St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provision company, through and in connection with the National Packing company of New Jersey, sought since 1902 to monopolize business, to restrain and prevent lawful trade and free competition, and asks that the companies forfeit the franchise and privileges granted by the state; that they be excluded from doing business in the state and that their property be confiscated, or a fine assessed.

The chief stockholders in the Hammond company named by the attorney general are the Armours, Swifts and Morris companies, the Hammond being the largest concern in Missouri through which the "big three's" business is transacted. According to evidence given to Attorney General Major the St. Louis Dressed Beef company is owned entirely by the National Packing company.

RUSSIA PUTS THE SCREWS ON FINLAND

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 20.—Under a bill just passed by the Russian duma, practically depriving Finland of its liberties, the czar's officials have already begun tightening the screws upon the subject country. Raids of private residences have become as common as in the days of the hated Governor General Elbrickoff. Dozens of such visits are made by the police daily, personal correspondence is ransacked, houses turned upside down and many arrests have been made. The newspapers are gagged and reorganization of the public schools is in progress to insure the teaching only of the doctrines acceptable to the St. Petersburg bureaucracy.

Agents provocateur are busy everywhere and other spies are so numerous that it is unsafe to speak freely on political topics. The Russian officers in the country are sleeping now in barracks, instead of in their quarters. No doubt is felt that the Russians are anxious to terrify the people by some bloody example.

KAISER'S LIFE IN THE BALANCE

Noted Frenchman Says that Over-indulgence in Beer Is Cause of Malady Likely Fatal

MONARCH'S BLOOD IS BAD

If Infection Manifested on Knee Spreads Death of German Emperor Is Sure, He Says

PARIS, June 20.—Over-indulgence in beer is responsible for the kaiser's blood disorder, which has twice partially incapacitated him within the last month, according to the statement today of Dr. Doyen, the well known cancer authority.

"I am satisfied that the kaiser's kidneys are in bad condition, resulting from the use of beer. The infection that manifested itself first in an abscess on his right hand and now is showing itself in an abrasion on the right knee is likely to become general unless heroic measures are taken to prevent its spread."

"Should the infection continue, death is sure to result. I do not think the kaiser's advisors realize the seriousness of his condition. In fact, I don't think the kaiser is cared for intelligently."

"It may be that the kaiser does not drink much beer, but a man with blood in the condition that his is in, should not drink any beer or other alcoholic beverage."

LA CROSSE GIRL WEDS IN WINONA

Miss Blanche Covey of this city and Arthur W. Wiggins of Janesville were united in marriage Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Central Methodist parsonage at Winona. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank Doran. Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins will make their future home at Janesville.

The average man is firmly convinced that he does seventeen times as much for others as others do for him.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

Any system that needs a tonic needs also a blood purifier, for it is the weakened, impure condition of the circulation that is responsible for the run-down state of health. The supreme office and duty of the blood is to furnish nourishment to every portion of the body. The circulatory system, magnificent and wonderful in its construction, supplies the means for the distribution of systemic nutriment to every muscle, nerve, bone, gland, sinew and tissue of the body; and just as long as the blood remains pure and rich each of these members are healthy, strong and normal.

We have only to recognize the importance of pure blood in preserving health, to realize the danger of a weakened circulation. The use of a proper tonic when the system is depleted and run-down will often prevent the development of some serious sickness, because weak systems cannot resist disease, while healthy systems are able to ward it off.

Deficient blood nutriment is usually manifested in a general bodily weakness, a tired, worn-out feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, etc. Sleep does not sufficiently refresh the body, and the languid feeling frequently makes the ordinary duties of life burdensome.

S. S. S. is Nature's Tonic. It is made entirely of botanical products gathered directly from the heart of Nature's forests. It does not contain a particle of strong, harmful mineral in any form, but is a scientific composition of extracts and juices from herbs, roots and barks. S. S. S. is the greatest of all tonics, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It is not a nerve stimulant, but a medicine that steadily builds up every portion of the system by cleansing and enriching the blood, and in this way supplying an increased amount of nourishment and strength to every portion of the body. S. S. S. rids the system of that tired, worn-out feeling, quiets the over-strained nerves, makes sleep refreshing, corrects any stomach disturbance, promotes good digestion and adds vigor and vim to the entire system.

WISCONSIN NEWS

TO IMPROVE CHILD LABOR CONDITIONS

State Commissioner Beck Makes Recommendations to the Governor

MADISON, Wis., June 20.—Joseph D. Beck, state commissioner of labor and industrial statistics, has just finished a study of child labor in Wisconsin, having investigated the cases of 6,000 children. He embraces his conclusions in the following recommendations which he has sent to Gov. Davidson.

1. Broader discretion in the refusal of state permits.
2. Broadening of the system of public instruction—especially the extension of all phases of industrial education.
3. A maximum working day of eight hours for children which Wisconsin must adopt if she would overtake the state of most progressive labor legislation.
4. The requirement of a minimum number of years of school attendance before a permit can be issued. In this respect, also, Wisconsin lags behind other states.
5. Stricter responsibility on the part of employers for the physical and moral environment of the children they hire.
6. A more vigorous enforcement of the truancy law.

JUDGE BRAZEE OF MILWAUKEE DEAD

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 20.—Judge Alvin C. Brazee of the municipal court, died yesterday afternoon in the Waldheim Park Sanatorium after a lingering illness, aged 55 years.

CROWDS EXPECTED AT BIG AIR RACES

At the eleventh hour of preparation for the Twin City Aviation Meet to be held at the Minnesota state fair grounds June 22, 23, 24 and 25, the management finds everything in the readiness for the coming of the man-birds and the dare-devil auto drivers except—the people themselves. In spite of the extensive publicity that has been given to the aviation meets being held all over the country it seems that the average reader can hardly grasp the significance of the triumph of mechanical flight, even though he has heard over and over again of the daring performances of Curtiss, Hamilton, Willard, Mars, and the Wrights, and other flyers. The nature of the stupendous spectacle which will be presented at the fair grounds this week seems barely to have dawned upon the public, although already large blocks of seats in the grandstand are being taken daily by wire, and orders for reservations are coming in thick and fast, while special cars are being chartered, and excursions run from various parts of the northwest. As a case in point to illustrate the general lack of information pertaining to aviation, the following conversation took place between a prominent man of Minneapolis and Carl H. Carson, advance agent for Curtiss in the lobby of Hotel Radisson Saturday: "Say, Mr. Carson, I would like to know just what precautions these aviators take against falling." "Supposing their engines stop when they get way up, say 500 feet, what can they do?"

"Have you ever heard about the 'glider'?"

"Well, I've heard that they do a sort of leap for life stunt and shoot down within about twenty feet of the ground, and then save themselves from certain death by elevating their front rudders. But you know seeing is believing. You can't prove to me that these fellows fall to earth in order to save themselves from getting hurt if they just let the aeroplane drift."

"You'll just have to wait until next week, I guess," said Carson. "I suppose you think these stories about the aviators sliding down through space in order to keep up their momentum are pure fabrication. It is the only thing they could do, and the only precaution an aviator takes against danger is the precaution of knowing he has favorable air and that his engine is working. The rest is a matter of his own skill and perhaps his good luck."

JOSEPH WEBBER IS UNDER ARREST

Charged with stealing about $35 from the cash drawer of the barber-shop of Joseph Schwabenbauer, 213 Pearl street, where he was employed, Joseph Webber was arrested Saturday by the police and is being held at the central police station. It is alleged that Webber had the key to the shop, and that some time during the night the money was taken. When arrested Saturday however, he had only five cents in his pocket.

FALLS TO DEATH FROM A "GLIDER"

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 20.—Eugene Speyer, 16, son of the late Walter Speyer, a millionaire, is dead today as the result of a fall from a small "glider" aeroplane late yesterday. The "glider" was a miniature model of the Wright biplane an young Speyer had attached it to an automobile, while a companion ran the latter machine. When the "glider" was 35 feet in the air and apparently running smoothly, Speyer fell out and broke his neck.

MINNESOTA AND THE NORTHWEST

PROGRESSIVES WILL WIN FIGHT

GRAND FORKS, N. D., June 20.—Representative A. J. Gronna, candidate for the United States senate, is back in North Dakota, and will remain here till after the primaries, June 28.

He opened his active speaking tour by participating in meetings held in Grand Forks county. The representative is confident the progressive republican ticket will be elected in North Dakota this year.

While he has been in Washington ever since the campaign was inaugurated, he has kept in close touch with the situation and believes that he will have little trouble in defeating Edward Engerud for the short term in the senate.

CONCORDIA IS NOW FORTY YEARS OLD

The Concordia society celebrated its fortieth anniversary yesterday afternoon and evening at its garden at Concordia hall on La Crosse street. This society is one of the oldest aid societies in the city and during its existence has given relief to many families. Yesterday the exercises opened in the garden shortly after dinner, with an address by Carl Ahrens, president of the organization, and remarks by others. A band concert was given during the afternoon by Andre's band and in the evening a hall was given in the hall. The event was largely attended.

CORNELL CREW THE FAVORITE

Expected to Win Poughkeepsie Regatta Saturday; Arrangements Are Announced

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 20.—The Columbia, Cornell and other college crews today entered upon the final week of their training for the intercollegiate regatta next Saturday. Cornell is the favorite but a hotly contested race is expected.

It is admitted that Coach Courtney has rounded together an excellent bunch of oarsmen at Ithaca but there is a feeling that Ithaca will have to pull their arms off to finish ahead of Coach Rice's Columbia eight.

Rice's action in replacing Saunders by Murphy is taken to indicate that he does not intend to have a good chance endangered by an unconditioned oarsman. Saunders was the biggest man in the Columbia boat and the strongest but was unable to join the training camp early and is not in condition.

The final arrangements for Saturday's races have been announced. The varsity fours will go to the mark at 4:30 and the freshmen eights at 5:15.

The varsity eights will go to the mark at 6:30 when the ebb tide will be at its strongest. The positions the crews will occupy will be as follows: Varsity eights: 1, Pennsylvania; 2, Syracuse; 3, Cornell; 4, Wisconsin; 5, Columbia.

Varsity fours: 1, Cornell; 2, Columbia; 3, Syracuse; 4, Pennsylvania.

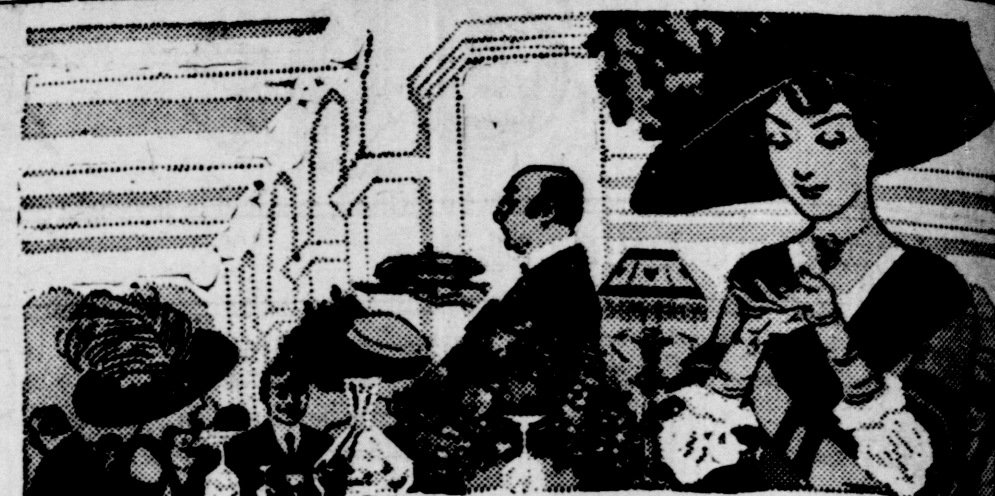

Freshmen eights: 1, Pennsylvania; 2, Cornell; 3, Wisconsin; 4, Columbia; 5, Syracuse.

LOCAL DRUMMERS IN VICTORY AT WINONA

The returning members of the Traveling Men's baseball team of this city tell many wondrous tales of their defeat of the Winona drummers. Saturday relating pitching feats that would make Christy Mathewson turn pale and telling of fast field work, double and triple plays that would make the celebrated "triple" Shortstop Ball turn green with envy. The following however can be taken as an authentic account of the battle:

With the mercury up to the hundred mark and with little cool breeze floating, fully a hundred fans sat in the grandstand at League park Saturday and rooted for the La Crosse and Winona baseball teams of the United Commercial Travelers.

The Winona drummers were sadly

GRADE PUPILS' SUMMER SCHOOL

In connection with the regular term of the La Crosse state normal school there will be a school for grade children. The work begins June 27 and continues to August 5. Attendance will be in the forenoon only.

Three classes of pupils may be benefited by attendance at this school. It will help those who, for any reason, are weak in their work, or who have been promoted on trial, or who have failed to make their grades. It often happens that children are prevented from attending school because of sickness or other unavoidable reasons. Such children may be strengthened in their work by attendance at the summer school. An effort will be made to find out in what particular the pupil is weak and in what subjects he is most lacking and every effort will be made to adapt the work of the summer school to the needs of the individual pupil. Children in grades

I to VIII, inclusive, are requested to register as early as convenient for this work. Applicants will be received in the order that applications are filed for attendance. Any one wishing further information regarding the summer school for grade pupils will please call the registrar of the state normal school.

LAMB EMPLOYEES ENJOY A PICNIC

Yesterday the employees of J. I. Lamb & Company enjoyed a delightful picnic on Goose Island, the event being one of the most pleasant of the season. The employees of the fruit company, together with their friends, drove to the island in the morning and spent the day there, playing baseball and enjoying other amusements.

CARLSON BURIED AT COUNTY'S EXPENSE

The body of Gust Carlson of Jamestown, N. Y., the Burlington section hand who was run over and killed by a train some time Thursday night, was buried in the potter's field of the Onalaska cemetery Saturday at the expense of the county. Nothing had been heard from the home of the dead man and in case that relatives wish to transfer the remains, they will be exhumed.

ROOSEVELT?

Col. Theodore Roosevelt is in the United States. His arrival, after nearly two years abroad, where he dined with monarchs and scolded or praised monarchies, as to him their deserts appeared, was made the occasion in New York city of the greatest demonstration ever created in honor of a private citizen, and perhaps none accorded royalty has equalled it.

For months the people of the United States have been waiting and clamoring for the return of Roosevelt. He closed his presidential career possessed of the utmost confidence of the people, and this enabled him to successfully press upon them for president a man to whom they would not, without his urging, have taken kindly. This man has administered the nation in a way strikingly in contrast with the Roosevelt way, and though a preacher of "Roosevelt policies" he has so conducted himself as to convince the public that he is at heart hostile to them, ready to dull the instruments for their prosecution, and ever a tool in the hands of men and interests between whom and Roosevelt bitter war was waged. The outcome has been the precipitation of a grave struggle the intensity of which has brought the republican party on a sea of trouble to the verge of breakers. In extremis, both factions of the party have turned their faces to the east and cried out for the return of Col. Roosevelt.

Theodore Roosevelt has returned, but that is of no more significance than would be the return of any honorable citizen. The thing that is wanted of him he could have done in a word while abroad, if he has come to remain silent, the cry across the sea for him will have been in vain. The American people want his word on the situation that confronts them. The insurgents want to renew his espousal of the cause of insurgency. The standpatters want him to reinforce his recommendation of Taft by approval of what Taft has done.

It will be seen at once that Col. Roosevelt is in a difficult position. He may remain silent, and thus to a degree evade a responsibility which his countrymen would thrust upon him. But if he speaks, he must repudiate either the man he made or the principles and policies that made him. It is not like him to be silent; on the other hand, it will not be unlike him to move cautiously and secure first hand information about both sides of the controversy. In our opinion, the colonel will, in due time, speak his mind with his customary vigor.

We reject the possible inference that in calling Col. Roosevelt a "politician" we are reflecting unkindly upon him. He has ever minded the admonition of Lincoln to keep close to the people. In our view, if before speaking he listens well, he will not take the backward trail, for his success has been due to a good ear and clear understanding.

However, we have no fear that an adverse position taken by the colonel would do more than check the progressive movement which was started in Wisconsin by La Follette, emulated in Iowa by Cummins and given national scope by himself. Roosevelt did not make these issues; these issues made Roosevelt. If championship of certain policies can make a man great, hostility to them can unmake him. Not the progressive movement, but Col. Roosevelt, will suffer as the result of a quarrel between the two. He must choose between one man and a nation, and if he chooses the man the nation that has had cheers for him will quickly have jeers for him.

ONE STATE'S GOOD ROADS

We feel inclined to reinforce the arguments for good roads in La Crosse county, so persistently and convincingly made by Supervisor Oscar Hulberg, by the publication of some data based upon the recent report of Frank D. Lyon, commissioner of the Highway department of New York state, relative to the labor and expenditure for good roads in that commonwealth. Following are some facts that deal an eloquent message to the Badger state:

"There are in the Empire State 80,000 miles of roads, a greater mileage which is improved highway than all the other Eastern states put together, not including Massachusetts. There are now 2,000 miles of state roads and more under construction. There are macadam roads totaling in mileage 2,400 constructed by towns. There are more than 40,000 miles of earth roads, properly shaped and crowned, stones picked and removed, depressions filled, culverts and bridges repaired. Towns have constructed 8,000 miles of gravel roads, in first-class condition.

"To keep these roads navigable, so to speak, means work, systematic untiring labor on the part of a great corps of people. The state is divided into nine districts, with Mr. Lyon in actual charge of these. Each district has a superintendent, an assistant to Mr. Lyon. Then the state is again subdivided into forty-four counties under the supervision of fifty-four superintendents, who, in turn are answerable to the nine assistants of Mr. Lyon. Then it is further subdivided into 334 towns, under 934 town superintendents. By this system Commissioner Lyon can reach within twenty-four hours after notification, any road in the state in need of repair.

"Work of construction and repair is now at its height, and Mr. Lyon's report of recent date showed that on one particular day there were 26,000 men and teams on the roads of the state of New York.

"Towns are this year raising by taxes for highway improvement the sum of $2,504,675.23. The state is turning over to the towns to aid them in this work $1,593,070. Bridgework during the year 1910 is to cost $628,414.63. The amount to be paid out for new machinery is $180,011.25. Special road improvements in towns of the state are to cost $279,706.22, making in all $5,185,877.33 to be expended by towns this year.

"The state is to bond itself for $19,000,000 for the construction of state roads. Towns and counties are to be called upon to provide as their share, $5,000,000. The state legislature has appropriated $1,800,000 for the maintenance of state roads already constructed.

"The sum of $21,985,877.33 is to be expended in one year for road construction and improvement throughout the great Empire state—that is, this amount is available for the work and in all probability will be utilized by the state department of highways."

New York is able to do this immense work for good roads only with the consent of its public, and the fact that the public consents and co-operates is ample evidence that its earlier experiments have been found to pay. Wisconsin may arrive at the same results by experimentation, but why delay and puddle along to demonstrate something already so thoroughly established (at the expense of others) as to have the force of an axiom? We want to see Wisconsin go ahead with strides, as the result of the work of a special committee of the legislature now having the effort in hand, and we want to see La Crosse county become the pioneer county in the undertaking.

There has been considerable criticism of some phases of Detective Frank Volton's career as a police officer, but in the Ruesgen case he proved unquestionably that he has the sand. The tracing of Ruesgen to his hiding place resulted from a simple deduction. He was in the home of his closest friend, a man already under the suspicion of the law. Not cleverness in locating him, but the daring of his capture attracts attention. It takes real nerve, of the deliberate kind, to say, "If he shoots me, you fellows get him; shoot through the floor until you do get him," and then, with both hands occupied in the effort, to swing up through a trap door into a dark attic wherein is supposed to be a heavily armed man desperate in the knowledge that he has burned all bridges by committing cold blooded murder. It takes that same quality of nerve to enter a shed to which the last convincing evidence points as the hiding place of the murderer, to cast gun aside and plunge, half-back like, over the breastwork of rubbish behind which the assassin is seen crouching. Ruesgen had thrown away his weapon, but until he was searched both the officers and the man who gave him shelter believed him possessed of the deadly automatic with which he had a few hours previously slain a fellow citizen with as deliberate mendacity as ever characterized the act of a criminal. Under the guidance of competent authority men of Volton's courage are bound to make a real police force.

Governor Gillette deserves little praise for stopping the big fight in California. At first he thought the majority was for it, and he let preparations for it go on; then he changed his mind, and he has stopped it because he thinks that it will be popular. This is the most charitable construction that can be placed upon his conduct in letting matters proceed until big expenditures had been made before taking the step he should have taken at the outset. There is small ground for praising dilatory enforcement of law by those sworn to its enforcement.

The Chautauqua has big things for all classes. It is not built for an exclusive set. It has the freest and most cosmopolitan platform.

Why He Wouldn't Shoot

A deputation of three soldiers once came to the late Dr. Lueger to make some kind of a request in their behalf. The burgomaster of Vienna turned to one of the soldiers with the following inquiry: "What would you do if the kaiser commanded you to shoot the burgomaster?"

"I would shoot him," said the soldier.

"So!" exclaimed Dr. Lueger, "and what is your religion?"

"I am a protestant."

Dr. Lueger spoke to the second soldier.

"What would you do if the kaiser commanded you to shoot the burgomaster?"

"Then I would shoot him," said the soldier.

"And what is your religion?"

"I am a Catholic."

The burgomaster turned to the third soldier.

"Would you have shot me if the kaiser commanded you to do so?"

"No," said the soldier.

"And what is your religion?"

"I am a Jew," he answered.

"What!" exclaimed the burgomaster. "Do you not know that I am the greatest anti-Semite in Austria? Tell me why would you not have shot me?"

"Because I have no rifle! I am the drummer of the regiment."—Jewish Chronicle.

Worse Than Pessimism

Andrew Carnegie, at a dinner in Washington, deplored the world's excessive armaments.

"All these billions wasted on battleships," he said, "are declared to do good in providing work, in creating prosperity. That is a shallow and false optimism."

An Office Business Only

A young man called at the office of a justice of the peace and with some hesitation made known his business, which was to be married. The justice replied that he thought he could perform the service, and asked if the young man had his license.

"Well where is the young lady?"

"She—she's at her father's."

"Well, bring her here."

"She'd rather be married at home, sure."

"And you expect me to go there and marry you?"

"Yes, sir, if you please."

"Young man," said the justice, "this office of mine is like a department store. We sell matches here, but we don't deliver them at the house."—Youth's Companion.

An Atchison woman called up a friend over the telephone this morning, and when she heard a response, asked, "Is this Mrs. A?" The answer was inaudible. "I want to tell you a great secret. GOOSE GIRL
By HAROLD McGRATH
Copyright by Bobbs-Merrill Company

Even in midsummer the dawn was chill in Dreihberg. She blew on her fingers. The fire was down to the last ember; so she went into the cluttered courtyard and broke into pieces one of the limbs she had carried up from the valley earlier in the season. The fire renewed its cheerful crackle, the kettle boiled briskly, and the frugal breakfast was under way.

There was daily one cup of coffee, but neither Gretchen nor her grandmother claimed this luxury; it was for the sick woman on the third floor. Sometimes at the Black Eagle she had a cup when her work was done, but to Gretchen the aroma exalted the taste. Her grandmother's breakfast and her own out of the way, she carried the coffee and bread and a hot brick up to the invalid. The woman gave her two crowns a week to serve this morning meal. Gretchen would have cheerfully done the work for nothing.

What the character of the woman's illness was Gretchen hadn't an idea, but there could be no doubt that she was ill, desperately ill, had the goose-girl but known it. Her face was thin and the bones were visible under the drum-like skin; her hands were merely claws. But she would have no doctor; which Gretchen gave her. Sometimes she remained in bed all the day. She had been out of the house but once since she came. She mystified the girl, for she never complained, never asked questions, talked but little, and always smiled kindly when the pillow was freshened.

"Good morning, Frau," said Gretchen.

"Good morning, Liehchen."

"I have brought you a brick this morning, for it will be cold till the sun is high."

"Thank you."

Gretchen pulled the deal table to the side of the cot, poured out the coffee, and buttered the bread.

"I ought not to drink coffee, but it is the only thing that warms me. You have been very patient with me."

"I am glad to help you."

"And that is why I love you. Now, I have some instructions to give you this morning. Presently I shall be leaving, and there will be something besides crows."

"You are thinking of leaving?"

"Yes. When I go I shall not come back. Under my pillow there is an envelope. You will find it and keep it."

Gretchen, young and healthy, touched not this melancholy undertone. She accepted the words at their surface value. She knew nothing about death except by hearsay.

"You will promise to take it?"

"Yes, Frau."

"Thanks, little gosling. I have an errand for you this morning. It will take you to the palace."

"To the palace," echoed Gretchen.

"Yes. Does that frighten you?"

"No, Frau; it only surprises me. What shall I do?"

"You will seek her highness and give her this note."

"The princess?" Gretchen sadly viewed her wooden shoes and roughened hands.

"Never mind your hands and feet; your face will open any gate or door for you."

"I have never been to the palace. Will they not laugh and turn me out?"

"If they try that, demand to see his excellency. Count von Herbeck, and say that you come from forty Krumerweg."

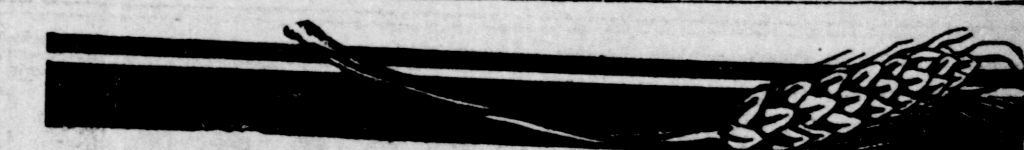

Gretchen shuddered at a mixture of apprehension and delight. To meet and speak to all these great ones!

"And if I can not get in?"

"You will have no trouble. Be sure, though, to give the note to no one but her highness. There will be no answer. All I ask is that when you return you will tell me if you were successful. You may go."

Gretchen put the note away and went downstairs. She decked her beautiful head with a little white cap, which she wore only on Sundays and at the opera, and braided and beribboned her hair. It never occurred to her that there was anything unusual in the incident. It was only when she came out into the Konig Strasse that the puzzle of it came to her forcibly. Who was this old woman who thought nothing of writing a letter to her serene highness? And who were her nocturnal visitors? Gretchen had no patience with puzzles, so she let her mind revel in the thought that she was to see and speak to the princess whom she admired and revered. What luck! How smoothly the world was beginning to run!

Being of a discerning mind, she idled about the Platz till after nine, for it had been told to her that the great sleep rather late in the morning. What should she say to her serene highness? What kind of curtsy should she make. These and a hundred other questions flitted through her head. At least she would wear no humble, servile air. For Gretchen was a bit of a socialist. Did not Herr Goldberg whom the police detested, did he not say that all men were equal? And surely this sweeping statement included women. She attended secret meetings in the damp cellar of the Black Eagle, and while she laughed at some of the articles in the propaganda, she received seriously enough that which proclaimed her the equal of any one. So long as she obeyed nature's laws and Heaven's, was she not indeed the equal of queens and princesses, who, it was said, did not always obey these laws?

With a confidence born of right and innocence, she proceeded toward the east or side gates of the palace. The sentry smiled at her.

"I have a letter for her serene highness," she said.

"Leave it."

"I am under orders to give it to her highness herself."

"Good day, then!" laughed the soldier. "You can not enter the garden without a permit."

Gretchen remembered. "Will you send some one to his excellency the chancellor and tell him I have come from number forty Krumerweg?"

"Krumerweg? The very name ought to close any gate. But, girl, are you speaking truthfully?"

Gretchen exhibited the note. He scratched his chin, perplexed.

"Run along. If they ask me, I'll say that I didn't see you." The sentry resumed his beat.

Gretchen stepped inside the gates, and the real beauty of the gardens was revealed to her for the first time. Strange flowers she had never seen before, plants with great broad leaves, grass-like carpet, and giant ferns, unlike anything she had picked in the valleys and the mountains. It was all a fairy-land. There were marble urns with hanging vines, and marble statues. She loitered in this pebbled path and that, forgetful of her errand. Even had her mind been filled with the importance of it, she did not know where to go to find the proper entrance.

A hand grasped her rudely by the arm.

"What are you doing here?" thundered the head gardener. "Be off with you! Don't you know that no one is allowed in here without a permit?"

Gretchen wrenched free her arm. She was angry.

"How dare you touch me like that?"

Something in her glance, which was singularly arrogant, cooled even the warm-blooded Hermann.

"But you live in Dreihberg and ought to know."

"You could have told me without bruising my arm," defiantly.

"I am sorry if I hurt you, but you ought to have known better. By which sentry did you pass?"

There was that about her beauty which made him suspicious regarding the sentry's imperviousness to it.

"Hermann!"

Gretchen and the head gardener whirled. Through a hedge which divided the formal gardens from the tennis and archery grounds came a young woman in riding-habit. She carried a book in one hand and a riding-whip in the other.

"What is the trouble, Hermann?" she inquired. "Your voice was something high."

"Your Highness, this young woman here had the impudence to walk into the gardens and stroll about as nice as you please, indignantly."

"Has she stolen any flowers or trod on any of the beds?"

"Why, no, your Highness; but—"

"What is the harm, then?"

"But it is not customary, your Highness. If we permitted this on the part of the people, the gardens would be ruined in a week."

"We, you and I, Hermann," said her highness, with a smile that won Gretchen on the spot. "We will overlook this first offense. Perhaps

AUTOS COLLIDE ONE IS INJURED

Accident on Clinton and Avon Streets Yesterday, in which A. M. Redmond Is Hurt

In an automobile collision yesterday morning on the corner of Clinton and Avon streets between machines owned by H. E. Merman and Dr. R. M. I. Kinnear, A. M. Redmond, messenger for the Wells Fargo & Company Express was quite seriously injured and the two autos were badly damaged. Redmond received a deep cut on the right arm, which was afterward attended to by Dr. J. L. Callahan.

Mr. Redmond was riding with Mr. Merman and their machine was going south on Avon street. When they reached the corner of Avon and Clinton streets, they met Dr. Kinnear in his automobile, going eastward. It is said that the latter was unable to stop his machine, the brake refusing to work, and when Mr. Merman saw that an accident could not be averted, he turned around and the side of the machine struck that of Dr. Kinnear. Both autos were damaged but only Mr. Redmond was injured. Neither of the automobile owners were to blame for the accident, inasmuch as they came together on the corner and the collision could not be averted.

THE RUBBER MILLS BEAT BANGOR, 16-8

The Rubber Mills again defeated Bangor Sunday in a swiftest, the final score ending 16 to 8. Bangor used up three pitchers, while Blank for the Rubber Mills was forced to take the bench in the sixth inning on account of an injured thumb, being succeeded in the box by Jerome Larson. The game up to the fifth inning was one sided, the score being 14 to 1, and in this inning Bangor scored most of its runs on account of the accident to Blank.

This makes thirteen games won and two lost for the winners. Batteries—For Rubber Mills, Will Blank, Jerome Larson and Kelly. Three base hits—Blank and Larson. Two base hits—Kelly 4, Anderson 4.

SCHARDT WINS FIRST AND M'GLYNN SECOND

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 20.—Bill Schardt pitched a consistent game for the Brewers allowing only seven well scattered hits, Milwaukee winning from Columbus by the score of 2 to 1. McGlynn pitched even better ball in the second game of the double header, letting the Senators down with three stingy bingles, the visitors losing, 1 to 0. The game was called at the end of the eighth to allow the visitors to catch an early train. Scores: First game—R. H. E. Milwaukee . . . 000000002—2 4 1 Columbus . . . 000000100—1 7 2 Batteries—Schardt and Ludwig; Kaler and Carrisch. Second game—R. H. E. Milwaukee . . . 00000001x—1 7 2 Columbus . . . 000000000—0 4 0 Batteries—McGlynn and Ludwig; Sitten and Arbogast.

ARTHUR'S COURT AT CHAUTAUQUA

Fun for the Children; Gay and Gorgeous Costumes; Instructive and Entertaining; to Elect King

All the little folks of La Crosse will be delighted to learn that the big Chautauqua that opens here on June 28th, has a feature arranged entirely for them. It is desired by the management that every boy and girl in the city should take part in this grand event.

The child feature for this season will be King Arthur and his court. This extravaganza performance is calculated to renew interest and study in one of the best known set of tales dealing with the remote past. The costumes will be gay and gorgeous. Just like those worn by the knights in the days of chivalry. All the children should get busy now in posting up on these matters.

There will be shields, swords, armor, banners, lances, helmets and coats of mail. In addition to furnishing heaps of amusement, it will wonderfully increase the knowledge of all who participate.

The princess will be there. So will Sir Launcelot, the Kitchen Boy, Accolon, the Giant, the Knight With the Badly Made Coat and other notables.

All will go in search of the Holy Grail in imitation of Arthur's men. The leader will use this occasion for instilling into the minds of the children the many moral lessons with which the tales abound.

Some local youth will be chosen to act the part of King Arthur. He will be chosen by ballot. The boy who can line up the most votes between now and the opening day will win this place of honor. It would be a good thing to get busy at this game right now.

In addition to all this the leader will arrange a lot of good games suitable for the children. There will be circle games, races, tag games, ball games, activity games, rainy day games, tournaments and games for the little tots.

A competent manager will be in charge and the work advanced in full form and splendor. There can be no doubt that this will prove to be the greatest child feature ever attempted by a Chautauqua management.

Remember King Arthur's court, for the children, and get ready to take it in. It convenes at 9 o'clock every morning, except Sunday and will be full of fun and games.

Earnest Wray O'Neal

One of the many distinguished services that the Chautauqua renders to the public is the discovery and presentation of men of big calibre for the discussion of live topics of the day. Every year sees more of these brought out with their messages of light and rescue.

Ernest Wray O'Neal is one of the big hits of the platform. An orator by nature and temperament, a thinker and student of affairs, he has the qualities that make themselves felt keenly.

But O'Neal is different from all others. He has that distinguishing thing called personality. He thinks differently, he illustrates differently and he pleases differently from all others. When he gets through he has left the impression that something worth while has been said. He has added to the total of human knowledge.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON IS GIVEN

Rev. C. C. Rowilson of Iowa City Addresses Normal Students Sunday Sunday Afternoon

Before a large number of students of the normal school, Rev. Carlos C. Rowilson of Iowa City, Iowa, delivered the baccalaureate sermon in the auditorium at the normal yesterday afternoon. The subject of his sermon was "Sources of Power." Text: "Take Courage! I have conquered the world." John 16:33.

The program opened at 3:30 o'clock with a song, "The Heavens are Declaring," by the school, followed by invocation by Rev. John E. Ayscue. The school then sang another selection, a nuptial, "Hark, Hark, My Soul." The closing selection of the program was Hymn No. 18, "Elders."

Rev. Mr. Rowilson spoke as follows:

"It is frequently said that the chief desire of our age is for life—the object of life is more life." As Tennyson sang:

"'Tis life whereof our nerves are scant,
Oh life, not death, for which we pant,
More life, and fuller, this we want."

"I somewhat question the assertion that this is the fundamental object of living. When more life becomes the object of living, then we become epicureans, we incline to drink the cup of life to the full, in dilettante luxury we revel in the richness of life's joy.

"One of the mighty sources of power is, of course, general culture, culture for its own sake. This great fountain is found in the Greco-Roman love of beauty and order, its joy in life, its aesthetic appreciation of the world. Our colleges are our great means of emphasizing the value of the Greek ideal. No sane or wise man will belittle their value to make life real and great.

But today an imperative voice has commanded the construction of professional and technical schools, it insists upon the necessity of cleaning up cesspools and making life practical and effective. That voice is compounded from the utterance of the restless Northman and the utterance of the apostle Paul as they together besiege the gates of Rome. You must adventure, is the soul of the Northman's character; you must achieve the kingdom of God, is the prompting of the apostle Paul—and it is the spirit of the apostle, put in twentieth century language, that builds our normal training schools, our agricultural colleges, and every other technical plan for conquering our world.

"But it is evident that I am invited here, not to emphasize the Greek stream of influence but rather the Christian.

"There is one character in history who stands out pre-eminently as the master. We may spend satisfying days in walks and talks with Socrates, Plato and Aristotle in the groves of Athens, but the spirit of our day creates the all conquering desire to spend our lives in the hot streets of Capernaum and the dusty villages of Galilee, teaching the ignorant, eradicating disease, and leading the lonely and helpless as we companion with Jesus of Nazareth. More and more we agree with Jean Paul Richter that 'this one is the holiest among the mighty, and the mightiest among the holy, who with his pierced hands lifted empires off their hinges, changed the course of history, and still rules the world.'

"What the source of power in him who said, as no other who has walked this earth could say, 'I have conquered the world?'

"There are just three fundamental articles in the creed of Jesus, but they vitally controlled every thought and action of his life. The first article of his creed is that this universe is fatherly in its attitude toward its children. We commonly state this as the doctrine of the Fatherhood of God. To him it meant a fatherhood that we scarcely attempt to appreciate. To him it was true that the whole universe concentered in him—in finding its meaning in him, in achieving its purpose through him, in concentrating its joy in his experience. This faith is a fundamental source of power. No man who is as an orphan in this world has triumphant power.

"The second article of his creed flows out of the first. It is the doctrine of the brotherhood of man. It is the conviction that society is not made up of segregated and independent atoms or individuals, but that the human race is essentially a solidarity. He that saves his life loses it, but he that loses his life finds it. Man is powerful as he expends his life for the sake of his fellows. Man is weak when he refuses to expend himself. What power has been given to an Abraham Lincoln, a Jane Adams and a host of other heroes of our age, by a profound belief in this doctrine?

"The third article of this creed grows directly and inevitably out of these other two. It is that the world is at heart good. Goodness must conquer. Intrenched evils are but eddies in the vast stream of goodness and truth. Degeneracy is but a back current caused by friction with the headlands which little men cannot crowd beyond. Evil is only perverted good.

These are the supreme sources of power for you. You are disciples of Jesus, whom he sends forth saying, 'Go, teach.' You must believe that God is love, that your life is worth while only as it is spent for your fellows, and supremely you must believe that goodness will conquer.

"Our strenuous Roosevelt would be but a windbag, blowing about the world the notes of our sinfulness.

HOT WEATHER GREAT FOR CROPS

MADISON Wis., June 20. — Hot weather for a period of ten days past has made Wisconsin crops fairly bound.

"The warm weather has caused everything to grow very rapidly," said A. L. Stone of the agronomy department of the college of agriculture today. "Last Saturday there fell just the amount of moisture needed to tide over the crops for another several weeks. There was plenty of moisture earlier in the season, so that the recent hot weather caused no injury. The dry weather however, has been inimical in one respect—it has cut down the hay crop materially."

A vast benefit will accrue to Wisconsin corn from the hot spell.

The agricultural college authorities report there will be a scarcity of Wisconsin-grown celery this year, the frost early in the season nipping the plants so badly that it is probable only one-quarter of the usual crop will be raised in this state.

GOVERNMENT STINGY WITH FRAUD SLEUTH

NEW YORK, June 20. — The award of $100,000 made to Richard Parr by the government in recognition of his efforts to uncover sugar frauds was one-eighth of what he believed himself entitled to, he said. He intimated that the government had not set any heavy premium for honesty among its officials in giving him much less than the sums he refused as bribes from officials of the trust.

"The reward is much less than I had been led to expect," he said, but I will have to accept it. It will enable me to take a much needed vacation. I shall not give up my position as deputy surveyor. I spent six of the best years of my life in winning my fight for the government. I was hounded, persecuted and threatened until I did not get a minute's peace. It was a hard fight but I won."

DRINK FROM A POISONED SPRING

VIENNA, June 20.—Poisoning of the waters of a spring near Trau, in Dalmatia, is responsible for the death of three religious processionists, the probable fatal illness of two hundred others, and the serious condition of at least another hundred.

ADJUST MINE STRIKE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 20.—Wage differences in the southwest coal districts where 3,000 miners have been idle since April 1, will be adjusted within two weeks.

A delicious, nourishing meal for 5 cents

SHREDDED WHEAT

Two Biscuits with hot milk will supply all the strength needed for a half day's work at a cost of a few cents. Your grocer sells it.

ALWAYS HEAT IN THE OVEN TO RESTORE CRISPNESS and serve with hot milk or cream, or with sliced bananas.

CONSTIPATION MUNYON'S PAW-PAWPILLS

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour; they do not grip; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach, in a way that once puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion, constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are thirty-two feet of human bowels, which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged, the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produces rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation or any liver complaint can expect to have a clear complexion, or enjoy good health.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weakening; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope, they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic. Price 25 cents.

ESTABLISH BOYS CAMP NEXT WEEK

Only Sixty will Be Taken to Summer Y. M. C. A.

Camp Ground at Trempealeau

DAILY PROGRAM ARRANGED

Fine Time Prepared for the Campers, who will Follow a Regulation Set of Rules

Fortunate are the boys who are lucky enough to secure admittance to the Boys' Summer camp, which will be conducted from June 28 to July 11 at Trempealeau Bay, Wis., by the Boys' Dept. of the Y. M. C. A. under the personal supervision of the Boys' Work Director C. F. Ogden. The party for this year has been limited to sixty including the eight young men who will assist Mr. Ogden in the capacity of leaders.

The Boys' Summer camp is a new feature of the association work in La Crosse, but it is one which is arousing the boys to the highest pitch of enthusiasm and bids fair to be one of the star attractions in the Boys' Department. The camp offers to parents the solution of the problem which arises at the vacation period when the boy is thrown so largely upon his own resources and has so much spare time on his hands. Here the boys learn self reliance and self confidence and spend two weeks of his vacation in the open air, near to nature, with congenial companions, and under competent leadership. Coupled with clean, wholesome outing will be lessons of practical nature, as nature study, wood craft, swimming, boating and a half hour each day given to Bible study.

The camp will be at Trempealeau Bay three miles north of the village of Trempealeau, and about twenty-five miles from La Crosse. The site is high and well drained and on the bank of a bay running back from the Mississippi and so away from the dangers of the big stream. The fishing is excellent and there is a fine "swimming hole" and not far from the camp lies a large level field, offering the finest opportunity for all manner of athletic sports.

To Live in Tents
Good tents will be provided and pitched on high well drained land. Mattresses and bedding will be furnished by the boys themselves. A competent cook will be in charge of the culinary department, and plenty of good wholesome food will be provided. The cook will be assisted each day by different shifts of boys, who will aid in the preparing of the potatoes, and other duties as may be necessary. With the large number of boys in the camp this duty will be very light for each boy. Besides this the boys will be required to keep their tents and grounds in proper condition and every day their bedding must be put out to air. This only means a very small amount of time each day so that the boy has practically the entire day to himself.

A glance at the daily program will make many a man wish that he might find the "Fountain of Youth" so that he too could join these boys in the games and "do-ins" that are offered. From Reveille at 6:30 a. m. until taps at 9:00 p. m. there need not be an idle moment. In bed at nine o'clock may seem a little early but after following a strenuous program all day, boys are always found to welcome "taps" preferring the delightful early morning hours to those of the sultry evenings.

Daily Program
6:30—"Reveille" Get-up. Morning dip.
7:00—Roll call.
7:00—Breakfast.
8:00—Tents and bedding aired.
The rest of the morning for games and recreation.
12:00—Beds made. Tent inspection.
12:00—Dinner.
Afternoon for games, etc.
4:30—Swimming.
5:00—Supper.
6:15—Bible study.
7:30—Camp fire and evening entertainment.
9:00—"Taps" All in bed.

Many novel stunts have been planned for the boys which will draw them all in to some form of amusement either on the athletic or base ball field, in the water or at the evening entertainment around the camp fire. Each boy is asked to come to camp prepared to do some stunt for the entertainment of the crowd. The Fourth of July will be the banner day at camp. Each boy brings his fireworks which are left with the camp manager until the Fourth. Also each one is to come provided with a funny costume for the "Horrible Parade." Two sham battles will be a feature of the life, when the camp will be divided into two armies, each with its captain and officers. One army will leave the camp and be given half an hour in which to entrench itself, when the attacking army will send out their scouts to locate the enemy and having done so a terrific battle will follow with bean bags as the engines of destruction.

Reading Matter Furnished
The daily papers and magazines will be furnished. Each boy is asked to bring a good book marked plainly with his name. By exchanging books there will be plenty of reading for every one. A half hour each day will be given to Bible study and the discussion of related topics, the purpose being the development of a practical moral and religious life. This work will be entirely nonsectarian.

In a camp as large as this the

ACCIDENT, SAYS CORONER'S JURY

Finds that Frank Bauer Met
His Death from Bullet
Fired by Harry
Nieber

"That the said Frank Bauer deceased accidentally met his death from a bullet entering his right breast fired from 22 calibre rifle in the hands of Harry Nieber on June 17, 1910.

"JAMES F. LANG,
"WILLIAM COLLINS,
"GEORGE HERKEN,
"D. G. WHYTE,
"SOL BURDICK,
"W. C. HOLBEK."

After hearing all the testimony in the case the coroner's jury returned a verdict this morning, finding that Frank Bauer was accidentally shot last Friday afternoon as a result of a bullet from a rifle in the hands of Harry Nieber.

The first witnesses sworn this morning were Drs. H. E. Wolf and J. L. Calahan, who held a post mortem examination over the body of Bauer. They testified that the bullet entered the right breast and that it took a downward course, entering the lower cavity of the heart, causing death.

E. H. Lyons Sworn
E. H. Lyons, husband of the woman who was with Bauer at the time he was shot, testified that he is a driver in the employ of the Standard Oil Company; that he did not know Bauer and never heard of his being in company with his wife. Witness testified that last Friday morning about 6:15 he left with a four-horse team and a tank of oil for West Salem and that he returned home about 6 o'clock in the evening. He made one stop on the way back, that being at Ross's place where the Burlington road is laying double tracks. That was about 5 o'clock or possibly a few minutes later. There he drank a glass of beer and watered his four horses. He reached the Standard Oil company's barn about 6 o'clock.

Nieber Tells Story
Harry Nieber, the boy who fired the fatal shot, took the stand and told the jury all he knew about the case. Tears streamed down his cheeks as he told of the affair. He testified that he bought the rifle last Friday morning, together with a box of 22 small snells, without the knowledge of his parents. Witness testified that he went to the Northwestern trestle and spent the day swimming and shooting the rifle. He had shot at various objects in the water and finally fired a shot down the river, the bullet striking the top of the water. A few minutes later a woman called the boys and said that a man had been shot.

William Bollen, Frank Boardman, Earl White, Arthur Panke, Henry Smith and Joseph Buckner, all boys who were present at the time of the shooting, testified to practically the same story as to how the shot was fired and what occurred afterward. Detectives Joseph McGrath and John Wendling were called and testified to going to the scene of the shooting. Chief Webber was sworn and read a statement made by Mrs. E. H. Lyons regarding the affair. Mrs. Lyons said that she is 26 years old and that her former name was Ellen A. Parkhurst; that she was walking along the Northwestern tracks Friday afternoon and that she heard a man cry that he had been shot and then running to the scene found him lying on the ground and that she did not know him. Afterward she admitted that this was untrue and in another statement she said that she was in company with Bauer during the afternoon and that they were sitting in the bushes along the banks of the river at the time he was shot. She said she knew Bauer well and that they had been friends for a long time.

Harry Coleman testified that he saw Bauer last Wednesday when the latter said "He has threatened to get me and I told him to be careful." Witness testified that he was under the impression that Bauer meant that Lyons had made the threat because he (Bauer) had been keeping company with his wife.

GEORGE G. BARBER EXPIRES SUNDAY

George G. Barber, of Mindoro, one of the old residents of the county, died last evening at 6 o'clock from the infirmities of old age. Decedent was born in Cayuga county, New York, August 26, 1827 and was married April 8, 1851, at Rome, N. Y., to Miss Frances S. Cowles, who died in the town of Farmington in 1853. On December 23, 1855, he was again married to Miss Rachel Jackson, who died in 1891. Decedent came west in 1851, locating in Farmington, and during the greater part of the time he has made his home on a farm there. Surviving are three children, Charles Barber of Onalaska, W. E. Barber of this city, and Mrs. J. W. Cook of Minneapolis.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Methodist church at Mindoro, Rev. W. H. Vance officiating, and interment will be made in the Mindoro cemetery.

JOE TO QUIT RATHER THAN BEND KNEE

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—"When my time comes I would rather pass from the house than bend my knees before the demagogues and self-constituted righteous members of this house who criticize the speaker."

This was the defiance thrown by Speaker Cannon from the floor of the house in response to the insurgent speeches made upon the reform rule resolution.

WON'T PROBE INTO ALASKA CHARGES

Committee Today Decides
Not to Take Up Allegations of Corruption in North

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—Action taken by the senate judiciary committee today, proved its determination not to consider the many charges of corruption in Alaska presented in congress with the dismissal of Dist. Atty. Boyce and U. S. Marshal Daniel Sutherland. The committee at the meeting today favored the confirmation of the nomination of John Rustgard who is named to succeed Boyce as district attorney. As the time of the committee was limited action on the nomination of H. L. Faulkner for marshal was postponed.

The majority of the committee felt that the only question before them concerned the confirmation of Rustgard and as there was no charges against him they should act favorably.

NEW TEACHER AT ONALASKA SCHOOL

Miss Sarah A. Sutherland, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and a bachelor of science, has been engaged as teacher next season in the department of domestic art at the La Crosse county agricultural college at Onalaska. She has been prominent in athletics at the university and is expected to play an important part in this work among the girls at the farm school next summer.

ENGINEERS ELECT SCHROEDER PRES'T

A. A. Schroeder of this city was elected president of the National Association of Stationary Engineers at the convention which was held at Oshkosh last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Mr. Schroeder returned home last night. He says that the convention was a record breaking affair and that the attendance was large. He was the only delegate from this city.

The average man is firmly convinced that he does seventeen times as much for others as others do for him.

FREEMAN TALKS ON SOCIALISM

Addresses Meeting of the
New Party at the Old
Y. M. C. A. Hall on Saturday

Last night a small but enthusiastic meeting of Local No. 1 of the Social Democrats was held at the old Y. M. C. A. After the business was dispensed with, Comrade Charles E. Freeman was invited to address the meeting, and for an hour, held the attention of everyone present. The address was a comprehensive, temperate, but forceful presentation of Socialism. Comrade Freeman has an excellent literary style and a pleasing delivery, and at the close of his address received many congratulations. Part of his address was as follows:

"There are four stages every reform must pass before its final adoption. The first is ridicule, then persecution, then argument and finally adoption. But one by one the big guns of the press, the platform and the forum are being trained on the Bastille of Capitalism to the confusion and dismay of the children of special privilege. Labor has compelled the Roman Catholic and the Protestant church to take cognizance of its needs." Mr. Carnegie has been found among the prophets. Says he: 'In the future labor is to rise still higher. The joint stock form opens the door to the participation of labor as share holder in every branch of business. In this, believe lies the final and enduring solution of the Labor question.'

"The day for selfishness has passed; the day for public spiritedness has come. Not my self, but my brother and my neighbor; not self-interest, but sympathy is the true end of right education and real civilization. The tale of egotism is told; the age of altruism has begun. The bell in the great belfry has struck the hour of twelve and the world now rolls toward the dawn. A new day is at hand. The splendid achievements of Greece and Rome, of the Renaissance and the Reformation have enriched the world with the accumulated assets of five and twenty centuries. The ages of Pericles, of Augustus, of Lorenzo, the Magnificent, and William, the Silent, have set forth like Jason in search of the golden fleece and have finished their voyage. Much wealth and great wisdom have been stored in the world's treasure house. Fluid custom is now crystal law; literature is rich beyond words with golden minstrelsy; art has run the gamut from low toned blues to the rich reds of the sunset; architecture has carved wood and stone and brass into manifold forms of use and aspiration; music has caught the voice of the winds, the deep tones of the sea and the harmony of spheres and set them to noble words, and religion has fetched a compass from Babel's Tower to the new Eden of a world-wide peace and mutual understanding, spelled with an un-garbled entity, spelled with an upper case 'S.' All this and much more is the product of individual effort and enterprise.

"It is truly noble but by no means final. The womb of Time is big with co-operative and social possibilities that cause the splendours of Yesterday to pale before the light of the Morrow. A new order obtains. The new heroism will be corporate not individual; the new might will not lie in the sinews of a Samson, but in the might of the multitude, the new thought will not be the originality of a genius, but in the consensus of an enlightened public opinion. In the Kingdom which is at hand law will not be super-imposed, but assumed; the new right will not be might, but strength bearing its own and its weaker brother's burden. The God of David was addressed as 'My Lord and my God' but the God of today is 'Our Father.' He is and shall be, not the God of Israel, but the Lord of Hosts, and the God of all the earth. He still is the Lord of the individual, tender and intimate, but he, also, is the Saviour of Society. In the past it was enough that a man be self-conscious, but now, no man can hope for the approval of his fellow man, who is not also world-conscious. 'No man can make good his claim to be a civilized man, or to real education, who does not ask his angel to write him down 'As one who loves his fellow man.'"

A man pleases himself when he

JAPS TRY TO SHIELD WOMAN'S MURDER

DENVER, Colo., June 20.—Chief of Police Armstrong stated today that he believed a concerted effort was being made by certain local Japanese to shield Genkyo Mitsuoka, a Japanese woman accused of murdering Mrs. Catherine Wilson. Two detectives having the Japanese in custody will arrive here this afternoon from McCook, Neb., where Mitsuoka was arrested.

Chief Armstrong declares that he will endeavor to secure a confession from the Japanese, but that while it he has a strong circumstantial case.

WHITTAKER WINS
FOR LA CROSSE

Bots Allows but Five Stingy Hits, None of which Are Bunched, Outcasts Winning, 7 to 0

Bots Whittaker was the whole show at the park yesterday, being the principal factor in the defeat of Corrigan's Surgeon-Lunatic aggregation to the pace of 7 to 0. "Whit" handled the white wash brush in fine style and smeared it on thick and heavy, in fact the stuff is on so thick that it won't come off for some time. Rochester had just one chance to score and that came in the second inning when Kernan landed on the pellet and it was partially stopped by Whittaker's glove and then shot by Wais to first the ball going over Ward's head and Kernan going to second. He stole third. With one out it looked good for a run but Bots struck out O'Leary and Stewart fled out to Safford.

McNeill was easy pickin's for the Outcasts and they hit him hard and often, bunched the hits at the right time and coupling them with five free walks to first.

Zalusky was the particular bright and shining star with the willow getting four safe smashes in as many times at the rubber. One of them was a two bagger. Kuehn hit three times out of four times at bat but two of the hits took bad bounds going out of reach of the fielders.

The crowd filled the grand stand and were in a joyful mood at the playing of the team. They showed that they appreciated the style of ball that was being demonstrated.

The Outcasts scored first in the second round. Zalusky hit to right and was advanced a sack when Klein grounded to second. Wais slammed to Wallace; the ball taking a bad bound Eddie beat the throw to Dunn. Kuehn repeated with a bad bounder of the same variety only the ball went into right garden and Zalusky and Wais scored.

In the next inning Connell who had been walked, stole second, was sacrificed to third and scored on the throw in of Safford's high fly in center field.

In the fifth session of the game, Ward slammed a fast one to McNeill, so rapidly that the ball could be only partially stopped by the pitcher, and beat the throw to first from Wallace who had finally fastened his lunch hooks on the elusive pill. Doll sacrificed and Ward cavorted around to third where he reposed in quietness until Zalusky slammed out a double to left field scoring our first sacker.

In round six, Wais started by walking to first. He stole second and scored on a hit to second by Kuehn. Whittaker sacrificed Kuehn to second and Connell's hit to left field scored Kuehn.

The lucky seventh brought in the last run for the Outcasts. Safford was walked to first, stole second and when the throw from Stewart failed to find a secure resting place in Wallace's mitts, Joe went to the third corner, and seeing that the pill had gone into the garden, Joe danced along the line and over the rubber for the last count of the slamfest. The last few innings were unproductive of anything save putouts and a hit for each side.

Saturday's Game

In the Lucky Seventh of the game Saturday with the score four to 1 in favor of the Surgeons, the Outcasts by a peculiar combination of aerial ascensions on the part of Chase and McNeill who succeeded him and three hits, scored 6 runs and took the battle to their own bench. In the next round they replied by getting three more runs taking the game wholly out of the won column from the Rochester aggregation. Watson pitched a steady game allowing 9 scattered hits. ## GLIDDENITES LEAVE FOR TEXARKANA

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 20.—The Glidden tourists made an early start today on their run from Hot Springs to Texarkana, Ark., a distance of 18 miles. The Carter and Lexington cars are laid up here, but will probably trail the main body of the tourists on the rest of the trip as soon as extra parts arrive to patch the cars up. The Carter car broke an axle and the Lexington its frame during the run yesterday from Little Rock. Both were disqualified.

THE ATHLETES AND CALEDONIA DIVIDE

By a great ninth inning rally, the La Crosse Athletics defeated their old rivals, the Caledonia Commercial, at Lanesboro yesterday before a large crowd by the score of 3 to 2. Blexrud for Caledonia and "Big Bill" Ritter for the Athletics both pitched good ball, but Ritter was stungier with his hits and was given faster support at critical times. Ritter's pitching was the one big feature of the game and after the second inning, he was invincible, especially with men on bases. He allowed but four scattered hits and struck out seven of Caledonia's heavy hitters. Blexrud allowed six hits.

Caledonia scored first, putting one run across in the 2nd. Nelson got a base on balls and went to second on Lovett's out and scored on Loman's single over second. Caledonia's second run came in the third inning. Hundt hit safely, but was out stealing. Hous got a life on first. Blexrud then hit a long drive to the trees, which looked good for a homer, but Gilles, by a great run, leaped high in the air and pulled the ball down, holding Hous on first. Pierce then hit a low one to left which rolled away from Gilles, Hous scoring on the throw. Pierce was caught off third on the return from Davis to Hackner. This was all for Caledonia as Ritter hit his stride and allowed no more runs and but two hits during the rest of the game. With the score 2 to 1 against them, the Athletics came to bat the last of the ninth with blood on their eyes, and by some great running, shoved two runs over the plate, turning defeat into victory. Hackner was first up and drew a hard one to third and beat the throw to first. Mueller fouled out. Evans shot his third hit of the game to right field and Hackner, running like a deer, came all the way home from first and beat the throw to the plate by a pretty slide. Evans then given free transportation. He struck out, and with one man on chance to save the game from the innings. Childers with his was down smashed a hit over third, scoring Evenson and winning one of the prettiest games ever played at Lanesboro.

Hackner's playing around the base and Evenson's hitting were features of the game, the former ending several difficult fouls and the latter getting three of the Athletics' six hits. The score:
